The Acadia Theatre Company Presents:

Six Characters Looking for an Author

by Luigi Pirandello, modern translation by David Harrower, directed by Anna Migliarisi.

Six Characters Looking for an Author is a timeless exploration of creativity and the deceptive power of appearances. Set in a theatre in Rome on the brink of Fascism, an acting company is rehearsing a strange new play by Luigi Pirandello. Six characters walk into the theatre unannounced seeking an author to complete their story because they've been abandoned by their author in mid-action. The director and his company of actors agree to play out the characters' drama, but can they settle on the truth of things?

Performances in Lower Denton Hall: March 7-10, and 14-17, 2012 @ 7:30 p.m.

Talkback after the March 14th performance.

Tickets: $12

Students and seniors $10

Groups of 8 or more people $7

Tickets are available at the door or at the Acadia Box Office 542-5500

#TellVicNothing

M any readers will have heard of what is commonly called the Online Spying Bill - Bill C-30. It's being proposed to allow law enforcement more capabilities for electronic investigation and monitoring. However, it currently opens the ability for, without warrant, law enforcement agencies to obtain your computer's address and traffic history, i.e. a knowledge of what you access online. Why might people be concerned?

There's been a policy shift in records keeping towards preserving records not currently required in an investigation. Richard Fadden, CSIS director, noted in a 2010 CBC interview "when CSIS was created, the objective was to figure out what was going on, keep what was relevant and destroy everything else in order to protect the privacy of Canadians. Today, the courts have told us that if we have any information at all that could potentially be used in any judicial or quasi-judicial system, we have to keep the information."

It is also not unknown for there to be a connection drawn by law enforcement between political views and monitoring for illegal activity. In June 2009, the RCMP JSIG report for undercover investigations leading up to the 2010 G20 in Toronto recommended monitoring groups of people motivated by ideologies that "disagree with the status quo," including views common in Canada - ones that advocate for free health care, subsidized education, and old age security, for example. The problem is that such marked ideologies can grow in number. Although it may sound like ridiculous fiction, consider if government officials started labelling 11 Main St. Wolfville 902-542-9250 theperfectcorner@ns.sympatico.ca environmentalists as terrorist threats. Oh... right. Not fiction.

After recent public outcry, Bill C-30 has been sent for revision before being re-introduced, and will hopefully be changed. However, it's uncertain if the warrantless monitoring sections will be changed or removed.

So, what can you do?

First, write to your MP with any concerns you have about Bill C-30. This can help influence people designing and revising the bill to eliminate the warrantless monitoring capability.

Second, if Bill C-30 gets passed with warrantless monitoring, use TOR (torproject.org) liberally. TOR is free software that re-routes your internet communication through a random series of proxies, making your network connections effectively anonymous at the level Bill C-30 allows law enforcement to collect. It's used by military, intelligence agencies, and investigative journalists for the same reason. Although, admittedly, using TOR is slower than just directly using the internet, it lets Vic peek all he wants, but tells him nothing.

Windsor & Hantsport Railway Co. Community Input Meeting Update

n Tuesday, February 21st the community gathered at the Wolfville Farmers' Market to hear a development proposal for the railway corridor stretching from behind Raymond Field to Waterfront Park.

Robert Schmidt, CEO of the Windsor Hantsport Railway Company, and Wolfville architect Vincent den Hartog presented opportunities for new 3-story commercial retail and professional services spaces, downtown housing, an enhanced walking trail, passive transportation links (a driveway and paved trail), an extension to the library, green spaces and much more. Deals with other landowners and municipal zoning bylaw changes would be needed.

David Hovell of the Wolfville Business Development Corporation sent a letter of support the following morning as they, "...recognize the need to encourage more commercial development as a means to ease the present burden on the residential taxpayer. Development opportunities like this do not come along very often and it offers local governments the chance to continue to deliver services important to residents and business owners in a more sustainable way."

Many people spoke out against the removal of the rail line suggesting that, with the eventual arrival of peak-oil, we mustn't be short-sighted with our transportation options.

For a detailed synopsis of the meeting, read Wendy Elliot's front page story of the current Kings County Register. Although we didn't get a response, questions on the proposal can be directed to: vinarc@ns.aliantzinc.ca et me introduce you to Lee's shop and the entrepreneur who runs it.

Lee is a 36 year old man with Autism and frequent seizures. Lee operates his business with the assistance of his support worker, Sharon. Lee is also supported by Community Association of People for REAL Enterprise (CAPRE).

For 12 years Lee has produced his own product, a children's activity, called the Cookie Painting Kit.

Lee has been operating his own small shop on the Main Street of Canning since 2000. Since then, the shop has become a place of many diverse handmade creations both locally and internationally. Jewellery, baskets, silk scarves are just a sample of the many items sold in support of worthy causes internationally, such as Work for Widows in Sri Lanka, Dare India, Project Kenya Sister Schools, Karis Orphanage in Uganda, Project Madagascar, Mua Mission in Malawi. Quilts made by "Sore Finger Quilters" are sold to raise money to support the VON.

Lee gives back to his community through the Giant Chrysalis House Christmas Stocking project. Donations are collected each year by canvassing local merchants and area residents and delivered to Chrysalis House. A kind local lady donates her knitted creations to raise money for this worthy cause.

Lee has gained recognition through articles written in Saltscapes, Readers Digest and more recently the Chronicle Herald. The article was aptly titled "Lee's Shop Selling Hope and Inspiration". Lee's vision for his shop is "To make the world a happier place".

Acadia Perspective: Jill Davies - Who can we Help?

WHAT ARE THE MAIN FOCUSES OF YOUR OFFICE?

We work to help students with disabilities to reach their academic potential and integrate into the greater university community. Students with disabilities meet the same admission standards as all other students.

HOW MANY STUDENTS ON CAMPUS ARE IDENTIFIED AS HAVING DISABILITIES OR UTILIZE YOUR SERVICES?

At the moment there are 207 students registered with our services of whom the majority have Learning or Psychiatric Disabilities.

WHAT'S YOUR GREATEST SUCCESS STORY?

There are so many it is difficult to choose.... most of the students registered with our services achieve excellent grades because they are model students, they go to class, work really hard and ask for help when they need it. If all students followed this model, they would likely be successful too. The first student I would like to profile is our first graduate to use a manual wheelchair without the help of an assistant, Emily Duffett. She graduated last year and is now pursuing an Acadia Masters degree here. Emily has Spina Bifida and is confined to a wheelchair. Acadia is notoriously in-accessible because of its location on the side of a hill however, undaunted, Emily chose to come here to do an undergrad in Sociology in 2007. Academics were never a problem; Emily is very bright and hard working and maintained excellent grades throughout her time here including an honour thesis in her final year. The logistics of dealing with the physical challenge at Acadia presented ongoing problems for Emily from elevators not working to snow days to fire drills without contingency for her escape. Emily advocated for herself with university administration and our services to ensure she surmounted the challenges as they presented themselves. After her first year here, she received a call at home on days when staff could not get snow removed in time for her to get to class. The registrar on more than one occasion moved entire classes from one building to another so Emily could get to classes and when she graduate in May 2011, she practiced several times with the $\bar{h}ydraulic$ lift that enabled her to get to the stage of UHall both to receive her degree and a golden A, an award for having maintained a sound academic standing, having displayed outstanding qualities of leadership and character, and having made significant contributions to university life at Acadia.

Another student graduating this year and more representative of those registered with our services is Victoria Hornell-Kennedy; Torie has a learning disability but like Emily, with few accommodations from our office has consistently achieved very good grades and distinguished herself as a student here. This spring she will be presenting the results of her Honours thesis on Students with Learning Disabilities at Acadia University at a conference on LD at the World Trade Centre. Torie will be discussing how the support of the Acadia community: students, faculty and staff of Disability Access enhances students' academic success and self-confidence."

WHAT IS A MYTH OR A REP-UTATION THAT YOUR OFFICE WOULD LIKE TO SHED?

That students registered with our services are somehow lesser students than those who are not registered with us. Not true, they meet the same entrance standards as all Acadia students and generally work harder and get very good grades. It is an honour to work with them.

WHAT SORT OF DISCRIMI-NATION IS ENCOUNTERED?

Because most have invisible disabilities, sometimes people question them and we have to back them up. For instance we currently have a student with a permanent migraine headache who takes massive doses of medication to help control it. Meds and pain cause him to miss a lot of classes and we go to bat for him on each occasion. Again he is a good student. Each has current documentation from medical professionals on file in our office.

WHAT WOULD YOU SAY TO SOMEONE WITH A SIMILAR SITUATION WHO IS CON-TEMPLATING POST SECOND-ARY EDUCATION?

My advice to a student who graduates from HS with the kind of grades that would get them into university is, do not hesitate to apply. Your disability will not affect your admission and, with hard work and the support of Disability Services, there is no reason you cannot be successful.

WHEN WAS YOUR OFFICE CREATED?

Disability Access was founded in 2003; similar services exist at all Canadian Universities. Here is our website: disabilityaccess.acadiau.

BATTLE OF THE BANDS

Saturday March 10, 2012, 8 pm - 1 am xe Radio of Acadia University is presenting a Battle Of The Bands on March 10th!

The battle will commence at 8pm in the Mackeen Room and will be judged by a panel of STAR judges. As of now we are planning on having 2 separate categories for competition:

1) Any singer-song writer, individual, or dual acoustic performance. 2) Any group of any genre (acoustic to electric, hip-hop to metal, etc)

Prizes will be awarded such as: Studio time, cash and an Axe Lounge gig (prizes not confirmed at time of print). 10 bands/ performers have registered and they're not just Acadia Students (deadline to apply was Feb 28th).

The event will be wet/dry so it is open to all ages. Stay tuned to Axe Radio for more details, the whole world is listening!! This event is in collaboration with the ASU, and we'd like to thank them for their support.

There is no admission cost. For more info contact Logan at: loganloik@gmail.com

ARIES (March 21-April 19): At one point in his book The Divine Comedy, the Italian poet Dante is traveling through purgatory on his way to paradise. American poet T.S. Eliot describes the scene: "The people there were inside the flames expurgating their errors and sins. And there was one incident when Dante was talking to an unknown woman in her flame. As she answered Dante's questions, she had to step out of her flame to talk to him, until at last she was compelled to say to Dante, 'Would you please hurry up with your questions so I can get on with my burning?" I bring this to your attention, Aries, because I love the way you've been expurgating your own errors and sins lately. Don't let anything interfere with your brilliant work. Keep burning till you're done. (Source: "A New Type of Intellectual: Contemplative Withdrawal and Four Quartets," by Kenneth P. Kramer.)

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): If you've been holding yourself back in any way, Taurus, now's the time to unlock and unleash yourself. If you have been compromising your high standards or selling yourself short, I hope you will give yourself permission to grow bigger and stronger and brighter. If you've been hiding your beauty or hedging your bets or rationing your access to the mother lode, you have officially arrived at the perfect moment to stop that nonsense.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): In the cult blaxploitation film The Human Tornado, the main character Dolemite brags about his prowess. "I chained down thunder and handcuffed lightning!" he raves. "I used an earthquake to mix my milkshake! I eat an avalanche when I want ice cream! I punched a hurricane and made it a breeze! I swallowed an iceberg and didn't freeze!" This is the way I want to hear you talk in the coming week, Gemini. Given the current astrological configurations, you have every right to. Furthermore, I think it'll be healthy for you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Astrologer Antero Alli theorizes that the placement of the sign Cancer in a person's chart may indicate what he or she tends to whine about. In his own chart, he says, Cancer rules his ninth house, so he whines about obsolete beliefs and bad education and stale dogmas that cause people to shun firsthand experience as a source of authority. I hereby declare these issues to be supremely honorable reasons for you to whine in the coming week. You also have cosmic permission to complain vociferously about the following: injustices perpetrated by smallminded people; short-sighted thinking that ignores the big picture; and greedy self-interest that disdains the future. On the other hand, you don't have clearance to whine about crying babies, rude clerks, or traffic jams.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): L.A. Weekly praised the music of drone-noise band Barn Owl. Its review said that the listening experience is "akin to placing your ear against the Dalai Lama's stomach and catching the sound of his reincarnation juices flowing." That sounds a bit like what's ahead for you in the coming week, Leo: getting the lowdown on the inner workings of a benevolent source . . . tuning in to the rest of the story that lies behind a seemingly simple, happy tale . . . gathering up revelations about the subterranean currents that are always going on beneath the surface of the good life. It's ultimately all positive, although a bit complicated.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): In the coming days, you could do a lot to develop a better relationship with darkness. And no, I don't mean that you should do bad things and seek out negativity and be fascinated with evil. When I use that word "darkness," I'm referring to confusing mysteries and your own unconscious patterns and the secrets you hide from yourself. I mean the difficult memories and the parts of the world that seem inhospitable to you and the sweet dreams that have lost their way. See what you can do to understand this stuff better, Virgo. Open yourself to the redemptive teachings it has for greatest and most important problems of life cannot be solved. They can only be outgrown." I encourage you to use that theory as your operative hypothesis for the foreseeable future. Here are some specific clues about how to proceed: Don't obsess on your crazy-making dilemma. Instead, concentrate on skillfully doing the pleasurable activities that you do best. Be resolutely faithful to your higher mission and feed your lust for life. Slowly but surely, I think you'll find that the frustrating impediment will be drained of at least some of its power to lock up your energy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A few years ago, the Hong Kong company Life Enhance sold briefs and boxer shorts that were supposedly designed by a master practitioner of feng shui. On the front of every garment was an image of a dragon, which the Chinese have traditionally regarded as a lucky symbol. To have this powerful charm in contact with your intimate places increased your vital force -- or so the sales rap said. By my estimates, Scorpio, you're not going to need a boost like that in the coming weeks. Without any outside aids whatsoever, your lower furnace will be generating intense beams of magical heat. What are you going to do with all that potent mojo? Please don't use it on trivial matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There are times in your life when you do a lot of exploring in the outer world, and other times when your pioneering probes are directed primarily inward. In my astrological opinion, you're currently more suited for the latter kind of research. If you agree with me, here's one tack you might want to take: Take an inventory of all your inner voices, noticing both the content of what they say and the tone with which they say it. Some of them may be chatty and others shy; some blaring and others seductive; some nagging and needy and others calm and insightful. Welcome all the voices in your head into the spotlight of your alert attention. Ask them to step forward and reveal their agendas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The Oxford English Dictionary,

an authority on the state of the English language, adds an average of two new words every day. In the coming weeks, Capricorn, I'd like to see you expand your capacity for self-expression with equal vigor. According to my reading of the astrological omens, you're due for an upgrade in your vocabulary, your clarity, and your communication skills. Here's one of the OED's fresh terms, which would be a good addition to your repertoire: "bouncebackability," the ability to recover from a setback or to rebound from a loss of momentum.

AOUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): We turn to Dr. Seuss for help in formulating your horoscope this week. He told a story of dining in a restaurant with his uncle, who was served a popover, which is a puffy muffin that's hollow on the inside. "To eat these things," said his uncle, "you must exercise great care. You may swallow down what's solid, but you must spit out the air!" Drawing a lesson from these wise words, Dr. Seuss concluded, "As you partake of the world's bill of fare, that's darned good advice to follow. Do a lot of spitting out the hot air. And be careful what you swallow." I expect your coming week will be successful, Aquarius, if you apply these principles.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You should be like a rooster, Pisces: dispensing wake-up calls on a regular basis. You should be nudging people to shed their torpor and shake themselves out of their stupor. What's your personal version of "Cockadoodledoo!"? It shouldn't be something generic like "Open your eyes!" or "Stop making excuses!" Come up with attention-grabbing exclamations or signature phrases that no intelligent person can possibly ignore or feel defensive about. For example: "Let's leap into the vortex and scramble our trances!"?

MIKE UNCORKED:

The Lions Share

Im Ave, Wolfville; this is a great street! You can find some great restaurants, some neat gift shops and boutiques, a few clinics, the library, and my work place on this street as well as the Lions Club! I frequent the Lions Club, at 36 Elm Ave., a few times a year for some fundraisers and the occasional breakfast; have you ever had a Lion's breakfast - because it's incredible! But I noticed there were a few events coming up at the Lions Club that I wanted to pass along to you. First, on Saturday March 3rd, from 9am -12am, the Grades 7 and 8 band students from Wolfville School are holding a fundraiser to raise money to go on a trip to Ottawa and Quebec City in May. They will be selling nearly new clothing at outrageously discounted prices. $2.00 will get you any piece of clothing, pair of shoes or accessory you can find. What a great deal and a great place to put your extra few dollars. Go early for the best selection... you can even stop over before or after the market! The students are grateful to Jane of Jane's Again Boutique on Main Street for helping out with the fundraiser. If its Jane's Again then you know its good stuff. Hope to see you there!

Then on Friday, March 9th, 2012 from 5pm-6:30pm, the Lions Club will be hosting a Roast Pork Dinner with proceeds going to Lion's Community Work. The cost for the dinner is $12.00 for adults and $6.00 for kids 10 years of age or younger. Get your tickets from any Lions member, or at the Wolfville Save Easy (ask for Carl!) or email sheristvns@yahoo.ca. Take out is available and you will not be disappointed with this great dinner!

As I had mentioned earlier, the Lions Club puts on a magnificent breakfast and on Saturday March $17^{\rm th}$ you can experience what I'm talking about. From 7am-10am there will be a breakfast served consisting of pancakes, sausage, bacon, eggs, toast, beans, juice, tea and coffee and it's only \$6.00 for adults and \$3.00 for kids age 10 and under. For more information call 542-4508 and with all the proceeds going to Lions Community work. This is a tasty way to put back into the community.

And last, I know this one is early but mark your calendars now for the CFUW Wolfville's 45th annual Book Sale being held Friday, March 30th and Saturday March 31st. There's no admission fee and free parking for this amazing fundraiser that I never miss. There's lots of books, jigsaw puzzles, magazines and more to be gone through and proceeds from the sale support many local organizations including the Annapolis Valley Regional Library and the Valley Music Festival. I can't wait!!!Keep this date in your mind, it's a novel idea!

And to conclude, just a quick update from my last Mike Uncorked: The Academy Awards edition. I guessed 20 of the 24 categories correctly, it was one of my best years and I even won the K-Rock Oscar Ballot contest! Not bad if I do say so myself! Thanks!

SUPREME COURT OF NOVA SCOTIA

BETWEEN: Peter Elderkin, Harold Forsyth, Hal Stirling, Doug Hennigar and Catherine Streatch - Applicants v. Nova Scotia (Minister of Service Nova Scotia and Municipal Relations) -Respondent

JUDGE: The Honourable Justice Arthur W.D. Pickup

HEARD: October 3, 2011, in Halifax, Nova Scotia

WRITTEN DECISION: February 9, 2012

SUMMARY! The applicants sought a judicial review of the Minister of Service Nova Scotia and Municipal Relations' decision to reject proposed amendments to the Municipal Development Plan and Land Use By-law submitted by the Municipality of the County of Kings. In the alternative, they alleged that the Minister breached his duty of procedural fairness to the applicants.

ISSUE: Was the Minister's decision unreasonable? Did the Minister breach the duty of procedural fairness?

RESULT: Application dismissed. The Minister's decision was not unreasonable, nor he did he breach the duty of procedural fairness.

The Sweetest Parsnips

From Jenny Osburn of Union Street Café. Find her Kitchen Witch blog at: www.localfoodlover.blogspot.com

arsnips may be a winter food, but it is in the spring that they are at their most sublime. Allowed to rest in the ground through the coldest season, starches in the parsnip convert into sugar. The same thing happens when commercial farmers harvest in the autumn and then store the parsnips at around 0° for at least two weeks. My dad just harvested his parsnips, a fine crop of huge but tender white roots that smelled sweet, earthy, and mysterious. As a kid, I thought parsnips tasted like unlit cigars. I still find something exotic about their taste, especially when roasted, a taste like incense, and well, tobacco. Maybe my taste buds are weird because I could not find them described this way anywhere.

Anyway, I've been hearing whispers of putting parsnips in desserts for years and decided that I had to try it. I used Union Street Cafe's Morning Glory Muffin recipe, tweaked the spices and grated in rich, earthy parsnips in place of the carrots. All went well. They baked beautifully, and when they cooled, my daughter Molly and I slathered them with Cream Cheese Frosting. They are subtly parsnip-y, a taste that fits very well, as it turns out, with cinnamon, nutmeg, and ginger.

Professionally Speaking:

EASE YOUR ACHES

Aches and pains during the damp winter months are common. Here are some suggestions to help alleviate them.

Dr. Janis Noseworthy of Fundy Chiropractic and Wellness Centre (ww.fundychiropractic.ca) encourages daily physical activity "to lubricate joints and strengthen muscles, which reduces injury risk. Endorphins released during exercise are the body's natural pain killers."

Hilary Fuller (hilary@ fullerfunctions.com) says "movement is a skill; golfing, swimming, walking all require coordination. Try the Feldenkrais Method to make these activities easier and less painful through refinement and the help of a good teacher."

Stephanie Bains, RMT at BeLeaf Aveda Concept and Spa (beleaf2@eastlink.ca) suggests "various massage techniques to manipulate tissue and relax muscles. Increased blood flow flushes waste products from the muscles; ligaments and tendons are stretched to increase suppleness; and nerves are stimulated to encourage relaxation."

Parsnip Cupcakes I waited until the kids were halfway through eating their cupcake before I revealed the secret ingredient. They still ate them and asked for more.

- 2 C. Grated Parsnip
- 2 C. Flour
- 1 C. Sugar
- 2 t. Baking Soda
- 2 t. Cinnamon
- 1 t. Ground Ginger
- 1/4 t. Nutmeg (freshly grated is awesome, but pre-ground works, too)
- 1 t. Salt
- 3 Eggs
- 1 C. Vegetable Oil
- 2 t. Vanilla

In another bowl, whisk the eggs, oil and vanilla. Pour the egg mixture over the parsnip mixture and mix gently until thoroughly combined. Spoon batter into cups and bake for 20-25 minutes, until springy and firm. Let cool on a rack while you make the frosting.

cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg and salt in a large bowl.

Cream Cheese Frosting

12 oz. Cream Cheese ½ C. Softened Butter 1 T. Vanilla 3 ½ C. Icing Sugar

Pulse in food processor just until smooth and creamy. Top each cupcake with a generous swirl of frosting and maybe grate a little nutmeg on top.

Line a 12 cup muffin tin with liners or grease well. Preheat the oven to 350. Combine the parsnips, flour, sugar, baking soda,

ROCK, PAPER, SCISSORS

The Acadia University Art Gallery: Rock, Paper, Scissors: An Exploration of Inuit Art at Acadia, March 2 - April 20, 2012.

There are over 250 works of Inuit sculpture in the permanent collection, the majority of which were donated by Acadia alumnus Dr. Arthur W. Rogers in c.1966. Another key component to the Inuit collection are over 50 works on paper, stonecuts, stencils and drawings.

This exhibition marks the first time that the sculpture and prints have been researched in depth, and the first time many of them have been on public view at Acadia. A catalogue will accompany the exhibit, made possible with support from Research and Graduate Studies.

The opening reception will be held on Friday March 2, 7pm. There will also be a curator's talk on April 11th, 2pm. All events are free and open to the public. Gallery hours: Tuesdays-Sundays 12-4pm. Info: 585-1373 / artgallery@acadiau. cacagallery.acadiau.ca

The 2-Minute Burn

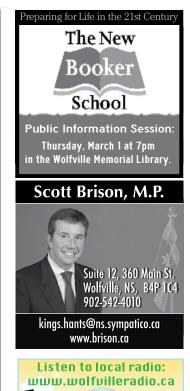

There are on average five twominute commercial breaks during your favorite 1-hour TV show. Ever thought about how many extra calories you would burn if you exercised during these 2-minute breaks?

Put down the potato chips and try this during the next commercial break: 30 second Plank Hold, 15 squats, 20 jumping jacks, 15 Push Ups.

You will burn about 15 Calories in each 2-minute break. That is 75 extra calories per show!

WHO'S WHO: Duane Currie: Smarter than the Average... Everyone!

think Duane Currie is Wolfville's Bruce Wayne. He sits at the Library Pub (daily) and types away on his computer, listening to everyone, taking in everything around him. He appears so quiet and linear. He just blends in, silently being Duane Currie. He's just the kind of guy to have a secret identity, wear black tights at night and save us all from danger. Duane Currie is more than just the pub computer guy.... I know it!

Duane Currie is from Windsor, Nova Scotia. He lived in Digby, where he graduated from Digby Regional High School and now he calls Wolfville home. I found out that the schools where Duane received elementary and pre-Digby education are gone now... could he be eliminating all traces of his past for a reason?

How's this for a convincing day job? Duane's primary day job is at Acadia University as the Coordinator of Academic Technologies. Mostly, this involves coordinating technology work to support teaching and research activities for faculty on campus. The work is varied - serving on or chairing committees, some direct technology work, consulting on the writing of grant proposals, providing advice to faculty around technology issues, and performing some related institutional research would be some examples of the types of things Duane does. Convinced? Part of his time is allocated to a research centre on campus - the Acadia Centre for Mathematical

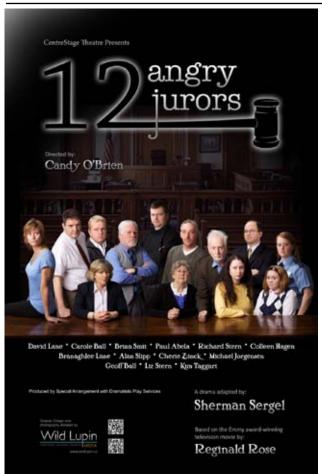

Modeling and Computation. (Sounds made up huh?) A major part of that job is helping faculty apply banks of computers to work together on solving problems far faster than can be done on a single computer. He often teaches courses for Acadia's School of Computer Science and he helps the National Coaching Institute run some of their coach certification courses online. Beyond that, Duane is a known supporter of the general aims of the Occupy movement, and gets involved with a number of local activities focused on awareness and public education around the issues of concern to the movement. Smart guy, quiet rabble-rouser... but there must be

Let's see if his hobbies are super hero-esque. Duane loves Ultimate Frisbee and has been playing for 12 years. He also enjoys cooking, softball, soccer, rock climbing, board games, learning languages, and reading non-fiction. And most super hero-esque of all...

Duane loves to crochet, yes; crochet... but not from patterns as there's no challenge in that. Currently Duane is in the earlier phase of crocheting a Ring Wraith from Lord of the Rings. The easiest way to describe Duane in relation to hobbies is that he has a compulsive desire to understand... EVERYTHING! He loves to take in shows at the Whittle, and attend seminars both on and off campus as well as bike around the valley and Duane also loves classic horror movies... this could be where he learned to defeat mutant villains at night.

I am still convinced that Duane is a superhero even after he told me about getting his sternum cracked, while playing a noncontact sport, by a Mormon Elder. Doesn't matter...keep an eye out in the sky for a Duane Signal... you'll see... it's always those quiet types! Duane... we think you're super!

People of a Feather

I am very proud to be coming home.

My name is Evan Warner and I grew up on the North Mountain in the Annapolis Valley and attended NKEC until I moved to Vancouver to persue a film career. For the last year I have been editing the most amazing documentary I have ever worked on; a film directed by ecologist Joel Heath called People of a Feather. Now, after so many years away, I finally have the opportunity to bring it home.

Home is where my creativity was born. Home is where family, friends, teachers and community supported me to follow this unlikely path. Home is a small place with a big impact. The Al Whittle Theatre in Wolfville and the community that surrounds is a testament to that. On March 14th at 7pm join Joel and me for a journey to another small place. Sanikiluaq, on the Belcher Islands is a home too...home to the warmest feather in the world, home to the Inuit community of Sanikiluaq and home to a controversy with global repercussions... I hope you will join me for the screening of People of a Feather. It's good to be home.

s a young family, we often A daydream about the time when we will have our own house and yard and when living in an apartment building is just a memory. But over and over, our neighbors keep giving us reasons to be thankful for our apartment life. Directly beside us is a couple that delights in giving my son a piece of fresh local fruit nearly every time they see him, and generously share with us what they return home with from fishing and hunting trips. Last Christmas two little girls delivered homemade gingerbread men to everyone in the building. There is a sweet older couple that often calls us over when we are outside to give our son a treat bag, no occasion necessary, and hand-me-down toys are always being exchanged here. We even got a knock on our door one night recently from some children to come outside and share some beautiful giant sparklers.

It is nice to think that someday when we are in our own house, the memories of the place where we started our family, will be so fond.
